Had Attended Daughter's Graduation.

NEW BRITAIN, June 5.—A Brooklyn physician and his wife were killed and four other persons were injured, including two daughters of the dead couple, in a crash between a train and an auto here yesterday afternoon.

Dead:
Dr. Alfred M. Buda, 57, and his wife, Augustine, 50.

Injured:
Taken to Doylestown Emergency Hospital were Miss Patricia E. Buda, who had been graduated earlier in the day from Haverum Junior College, Bryn Mawr; her sister, Gloria E., 23; Jaques Guthrie, 20, and his sister, Camille, 22, also of Brooklyn.

Patricia was detained at the hospital in fair condition.

Dr. and Mrs. Buda were celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary. Their automobile was struck by a Reading Co. electric train at a grade crossing.

The tragedy in which Dr. Alfred M. Buda, 57, and his wife, Augustine, 50, died, ended a triple family celebration. The couple had been to Bryn Mawr to witness the graduation of a daughter, who also was celebrating her 19th birthday.

State Police said the vehicle operated by Dr. Buda, chief protocolist at Brooklyn Hospital, was hit broadside by a Doylestown-to-Philadelphia electric train at a grade crossing on Route 202, New Britain borough.

According to authorities, Dr. Buda died instantly. His wife was decapitated. The others were cut and bruised as the top of the automobile was torn off in the crash.

State police of the Doylestown subsection reported that the train's engineer, Martin S. Barnes, 60, of Walnut lane near Musgrave street, told them he did not see the auto until an instant before the collision.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

The Yalta Agreement, which gave Russia part of the islands off Japan and rights in Manchuria in return for joining the war against Japan, was defended by Secretary Acheson yesterday as "a price" that had to be paid under the realities of the moment. In presenting to the two Senate committees investigating the MacArthur case a summary of this country's China policy, he said nothing short of full and dangerous intervention could have saved China from the Communists. Mr. Acheson will resume his testimony today.

The United Nations is prepared to erect "further barricades to Chinese Communist aggression" if the recently declared arms embargo does not bring the Korean war to an end, Warren R. Austin said. Poland's delegate to the United Nations indicated that the Soviet bloc still insisted on linking all Far Eastern issues to a Korean cease-fire.

Moscow, replying to a United States invitation for a foreign ministers' conference in Washington on July 23, said it was all for such a meeting but on its own terms of including the North Atlantic treaty and United States bases in Europe on the agenda. Inasmuch as the West has refused to accept this condition, the reply was interpreted as a rejection.

THE WAR

TOKYO — United Nations troops driving toward a key supply area in central North Korea hacked out fresh gains ranging up to more than a mile and a half today, despite fierce Communist resistance.

Chinese and North Korean forces struck back violently in most sections of the 125-mile front, provoking battles in which allied columns had to slug their way forward virtually foot by foot.

At some points, particularly along the four main roads leading up to the Kumhwa-Chorwon-Pyongyang triangle in the center, the grinding UN push was fought to a near halt by the enemy.

In the west, allied troops stormed across the north bank of the strategic Imjin river in the area east of Korangpo which is 29 miles north-northwest of Seoul.

Further east, other UN forces hammered out gains up to 3,000 yards above Yonchon which lies six miles north of Parail 35, astride the Uijongbu-Chorwon highway.

ARRESTED IN BRISTOL

DOYLESTOWN, June 5.—It cost Sheldon M. Munro, 22, of Pioneer avenue, Pittsburgh, a sailor, $147.30 because he thought his mate's car was facing the wrong direction. His shipmates "shelling out" helped him to pay the bill.

Munro, who was arrested May 30 by a Bristol police officer, Alonzo Vansant, came out of a club and attempted to turn his mate's car around by driving it around the block.

He fouled up because, first, he had no operator's license, and second, he ran into a parked car, owned by John Difonanturo, 23, 222 Dorrance street.

The sailor, whose mates were in court, was fined $100 by Judge Biesler and the costs amounted to $147.30.

Bristol Blood Donors lost no time Sunday evening when at 8:15 they learned that two small children were missing while swimming at Silver Lake.

YARDLEY, June 5.—The dwelling recently moved from Washington Crossing Park was extensively damaged by fire yesterday afternoon and four firemen were injured as the blaze ate its way through the three-story frame structure.

The flames gutted the residence of Thomas Maddock on River Road near Washington Crossing.

Edward Boss, a member of the Yardley Fire Co., collapsed while fighting the fire. A physician summoned to the scene treated him for smoke poisoning. Several other firemen, members of the Yardley, Newtown and Titusville Fire Companies, received treatment for cuts caused when the intense heat caused windows to burst.

In an effort to check the flames, members of the Titusville Fire Co. ferried additional fire-fighting equipment across the Delaware River in a rowboat.

According to Chief Arthur Worrell of Yardley, the fire was discovered about one p. m. by a neighbor who noticed smoke seeping from the house.

FEWER AUTO DEATHS

Another facet of the summer now getting under way in which it may differ from previous years is that auto deaths may decline.
To the amazement of all safety officials, the May 30 holiday was accompanied by a diminution of highway slaughter which upset all calculations. If the warm months ahead indeed register a decline in deaths on the highway, it will be a welcome development.

No national problem has been attacked more vigorously and with more disheartening results than that of automobile accidents.
Perhaps safety campaigns are at long last paying off. Perhaps motorists have finally been impressed by the fact that the life they endanger when they drive recklessly may be their own.

FAD'S UNTIMELY END

The college fad with the greatest possibilities since goldfishswallowing seems destined to come to an untimely end. Colleges are closing for the term, putting a temporary end to the latest campus capers. And by autumn the boys probably will have thought of something else.

But if its death knell has been struck, the latest manifestation of goofiness or effervescence at the college level—depending on the viewpoint—came to an end with a fresh burst of publicity. A couple of students at the University of California set a new world's record of 72 hours, eclipsing the former mark of 54 hours and 53 minutes set by a fellow student a few days previously.

That shows how the thing could spiral into an endurance contest the like of which has never been imagined. Future records could be lengthened progressively until a student finally chalked up the ultimate in achievement and devoted his entire four years at college to setting a new world mark. That would be a mark to stand for all time, presumably, unless a student who flunked set a five-year mark.

What is this endurance effervescence marathon that is being brought to a halt through no lack of interest on the part of collegiate participants? Its tetter-tottering.
A pair of students ensconce themselves on either end of a tettertotter and totter and tetter until they have engaged in the feat longer than those who previously had a go at it. Albert Arnold and Jim Trew are the holdover champions until autumn at least. Asked why they did it, Albert said:

"That's the funny thing. We never did figure out why."

Aren't they the cards, though?

Prosperous areas formerly were called lands of milk and honey. But that was before strikes and government controls were invented.

tion of attending the dinner session of Bucks Co. Boroughs Ass'n in Quakertown at the end of the month.

Complaints being received of large trucks blocking Reetz avenue at Main street for lengthy periods of time, the secretary was instructed to notify proper individuals that such practice must cease.

Councilmen suggested that all residents of the borough make certain that trees overhanging public sidewalks be trimmed to a distance of eight feet above the sidewalks.

It was reported that the local zoning board had met last week with members of the Institute of Local and State Government (University of Pennsylvania).

Some time was given to discussion on the need for domestic water supply in the portion of the borough not served in this manner, and method for securing same. The secretary reported to councilmen information received regarding such from the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, Bureau of Rates and Research. Councilmen studied the borough map and the section covered by the franchise of Langhorne Spring Water Co. It was brought out that all properties in the area covered by the franchise are not served by that company.

Chief of Police Ernest Maret reported for the past month: four stop sign violations; three reckless driving cases; one operating car minus driver's license; and three dog law violations.

Bills ordered paid are: Chief of Police Maret, $22; Philadelphia

ley, care of Memorial Park, $25;

ment Consulting Service, prepara-

SAME SHOE ...different dollar

Y ou know how shoes have gone up in price. But don't blame the manufacturer or the store. Blame the dollar. It buys only about half what it did in the Thirties.

The dollar is hurting us, too. Costs of supplies and equipment used in the telephone business are going up and up, just like costs of supplies and equipment for other businesses.

But compare the cost of your telephone service with the costs of other things... and you'll agree that telephone service is a remarkable bargain.

In relation to almost anything you can name, telephone service is high in value and low in cost. We're doing our level best to keep it that way. Even if its cost should go up a few cents a day, telephone service would still represent a smaller part of the family budget than it did 15 years ago.

Celebrities of Stage and Screen to Attend Opening

NEW HOPE, June 5—Celebrities of stage, screen, the ranks of television, as well as many important public officials from New York, Philadelphia and the nearby communities in Bucks County will attend the Bucks County Playhouse this Friday evening when Theron Bamberger opens the 1951 summer season with Arthur Treacher, inimitable butler of the screen, and popular stage and television comedian as the star of "Clutterbuck."

By a felicitous coincidence "Clutterbuck" on Broadway exactly a year ago, making it possible for Bamberger to book it for the first attraction of the current season.

This marks Mr. Bamberger's 11th year as producer of the Bucks County Playhouse, during which time he has presented more than 100 plays to a constantly growing and always appreciative audience.

"Clutterbuck" was written by Benn W. Levy in the same light and witty style as the author's "Springtime For Henry." It tells how two married couples on a luxury cruise to the tropics nearly find their marriages wrecked by the presence on the steamer of a mysterious Mr. Clutterbuck and his alluring and flirtatious wife.

Arthur Treacher's star role is that of a pompous British rubber planter who fancies himself a romantic prize. The role gives him ample opportunity to display his talent for comic acting.

Mr. Edward Reading, Sr., Fallington, spent a few days last week with Mrs. Robert Rue, Buckley street.

A soldier who spent the past two years in Korea, arrived home yesterday for a visit. The young man, Cpl. Vincent Pierandozzi, Jr., is

Today's Quiet Moment

By Rabbi Aron Moskovits
Of Congregation Ahavath Achim

Eternal and loving Father, as our community is putting forth its utmost endeavor to fulfill a great need, toward the alleviation of pain and suffering, we Thy children are fully aware of our responsibility and ask for Thy help and guidance. We realize, O Father, that such a service cannot be rendered unless we are supplied with a modern device—a well equipped hospital. We therefore pray Thee, inspire all our citizens to help in this stupendous undertaking. May each contribute in the measure of the blessings which Thou hast bestowed upon them. May they realize that it is a privilege to be a co-worker with Thee in aiding the sick and bringing healing to the suffering.

Be with all those who work with zest and zeal to make this enterprise a reality. Give them Thy vision and may they realize that no effort is too great and no sacrifice too dear to those who understand the profound meaning of the prayer:

"Heal us that we may be healed. Save us that we shall be saved, for Thy salvation is ours." Amen.

PACIFIC STEEL NOSES OUT RIVALS FROM 5TH WARD

The Pacific Steel Boiler team won its third game of the season last evening as it nosed out the Fifth Ward Sporting Club, 4-3, in a hard-fought tilt on the Estates' field. Two extra innings were played.

The winning run was scored in the ninth when Joe Garafola tripped and both Dezzie DeLise and Frank Lucanti were purposely passed to load the bases. Nick Lomma then sent a long fly to "Chick" DiAngelo with Garafola scoring after the catch.

Fifth Ward made three hits off Garafola, one a triple by Henry Liberatore which helped to account for two runs in the third. Liberatore went the route for the losers. From the second until the ninth frame, Liberatore gave up but three hits. Garafola did not permit a solitary safe hit after the third canto.

JEFFERSON DROPS KAISER METAL FROM FIRST PLACE

The Bristol Suburban Softball League was thrown into a wild, scramble last evening as the Jefferson A. C. toppled Kaiser Metal Products from first place in the circuit by beating the Kaisermen, 10-6, on Memorial Park field. As the circuit now lines up, one game separates first place from last place.

It was the third straight triumph for the Jefferson boys who bunched their seven hits with walks to notch the victory. Tommy Ruggieri paced the batters with two triples in four trips to the plate. He scored three runs.

Kaiser made eight hits off "Johnny" Ciambella. Four of the hits were for extra bases but Johnny got stronger as the game progressed and permitted but three hits in the last four frames. He retired the side in order in the fourth, sixth, and seventh innings.

Costs Sailor $147.30 For Motor Violation

stationed at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

Although he testified he wasn't as drunk as he acted, he did drink 10 bottles of beer which startled Judge Biester.

The sailor-defendant took the ignition keys from another mate, Edward Kenny, West Virginia, who owned the car, and came out of the club house first. He decided the car was facing the wrong direction to start back to Philadelphia so he got in and drove it the wrong way on a one-way street which caught the eye of the policeman.

"I had a learner's permit once," said the sailor.

Each of the four sailors decided they will take out learners' permits and get operators' licenses as soon as they can because an evening "out in Bristol" proved a bit too salty.

DiBonanturo was not able to estimate the damages done to his car.

Suspended Sentence Imposed on G. Harris

DOYLESTOWN, June 5 — President Judge Keller gave a suspended sentence Thursday to Pvt. George Hriczo, also known as George Harris, 38, Neshaminy Falls, who pleaded guilty to breaking into the Hilltop A. C. at Oakford. The suspended sentence will allow time to determine if the youth must return to the Pennsylvania Industrial School or whether the Army will have him back.

Harris, who was in Juvenile Court, here, in 1946, and again in 1949, when he was committed to the industrial school by Judge Calvin S. Boyer, has robbed the Oakford athletic club three times.

He was released from reform school in October, 1950, and enlisted in the Army December, 1950.

"I want you to go back to the army, if it will have you," said Judge Keller. The youth is now AWOL from Fort Hood, Texas, where he is stationed with an artillery unit.

Trooper Andrew J. Kuthney, of the Langhorne State Police substation, testified Harris, March 29, stole whiskey, wine, $8.29 in cash from a juke box, brandy and cigarettes.

Walter Frederick, Oakford club trustee, testified many of the articles, which the defendant invariably hides in a nearby woods, were recovered, including most of the $8.
